Serve joyfully with boundless love!
School Thrust 2019-2020

July 11, 2019

Dear Assumption Antipolo Families,

Greetings of Peace!

We are pleased to bring you the Assumption Antipolo Family Congress entitled “Famicon2019: Families Serving Joyfully with Boundless Love” on August 3, 2019, Saturday, from 8:00 am to 12:20 pm, with two sessions to be held simultaneously at the Assumpta Theater and at the Mini Theater. Registration will start at 7:30 am.

As parents, our main concern is our children. We want what is best for them and we work hard to be able to provide for them. But aside from addressing the material needs of our children, it is crucial that our children are able to feel our love and support in the home. The family environment plays a big role in shaping their identity as they grow into adolescence and to adulthood.

This year, we are blessed to have 2 sets of speakers that will share their experiences and expertise in their own respective fields.

Speakers: Dr. Allan and Ms. Maribel Dionisio
Topic A: Happy Parents, Happy Children

Allan and Maribel are both graduates of the Family Ministry course from the Loyola School of Theology of the Ateneo de Manila University. They are much sought-after as speakers and resource persons at workshops, radio and television programs on parenting, marriage and family. Allan and Maribel help prepare couples for marriage in the Discovery Weekend marriage preparation program for the past 30 years. They are regular columnists for Kerygma magazine. For 15 years they were contributors to the Working Mom magazine. They have co-authored two relationship books, Thinking of Marriage (Don Bosco Press 2011) and Teen Crush, (Don Bosco Press 2011). Allan and Maribel have been happily married (more often than not!) for 35 years and have 3 adult children: Rafael, 33, David, 31 and Angelica, 26. Occasionally their children join them in talks, as added resource persons.

As newborns, children are cute, angelic and adorable. They continue to be so, and be happy children if they have happy parents. The father and mother are the architects of the home. They create the foundation of happiness for the children.

Parents need to continually learn the techniques of being joyful in their marriage while parenting their children. Effective parenting goes with a happy marriage.

This talk will focus on helping parents find joy in their marriage and in learning techniques to enhance their relationship. This in turn will create a happy environment at home that will also translate to their own children being joyful.

Please see next page.

As a parent, it's natural to sometimes feel disconnected from your kids. As kids grow up, they grow into being their own person-- they make their own decisions, set their own goals, and develop their own distinct personalities. A child at age 4 can sometimes seem like an entirely different person when he or she turns 14. Not that the changes in a growing child are for the worse—it's simply difficult to adjust to the changes in the relationship you had with them when they were younger. But rather than mourn the dynamics of the relationship you had with your child when they were small, you might instead try reinventing that relationship.

This talk aims to help improve your relationship with your child through an activity designed to identify your personality type. This will in turn create an awareness of the strengths of different personality types, which is often the case for parent and child.

The fees for the Family Congress are included in this year's tuition fees. Kindly fill out and return the reply slips on or before July 22, 2019. Your prompt reply will surely help us enhance your experience on the day of the congress.

We hope to see you as we continue to work towards becoming better spouses and parents in our family.

Thank you.

Yours in Assumption,
